COURT DECISION HITS INTERURBAN

SUPREME COURT DECIDES MIL- MET FOR WAUKEE CASE AGAINST COMPANY.

SWEEPING IN EFFECT

Case of Milwaukce Bond Issue for Municipal-Lighting Plant Also Decided.

BY ANSOCIATED PRESS. Madison, Wis., April 26.—The Wisvirtually holding that laterurban cars cannot run over land which has not been condomned according to law. This means that the Milwaukoe company must coase to operate cars aver Wells street, one of the most important streets in the Wisconsin metropolis. It is likely the company will petition for a re-hearing.

Because the Milwankee city council of 1904 failed to set forth with suffi-cient clearness the purpose of the proposed band issue for $500,000 which supposedly was to be used for the construction and maintenance of a manielpal lighting plant, the supreme court today upheld the injunction granted in the lower court against the equipment of the proposed plant.

Sparta, Wis., April 26.—While the night watchman was taking prisoners to the penitentiary at Waupun last night, other candidates for cells in that institution were disturbing the slumbers of the citizens by setting off charges of nitro-glycerine in proximity to the safes in three down-town hustness places. Only one strong box yielded to the explosives and but a small amount of valuables were taken. The prisoners made their escape,

TILLS FIELDS WITH ENGINE GANG PLOW

A. Q. Russell Uses Motor-Driven Plow and Harrow in Doing Spring Work on His

An Innovation in farm work in this region is that introduced by A. G. Russell on his farm north of the city. It is a six-bottom engine-gang plow, 1910 model, which Mr. Russell purchased of the John Deore Plow company of Meline, III., and which he is using to do his spring plowing. The muchine does the work of six plows and harrows the ground, as it promes over it, at the same time. With the new device, which is the first used in the county, he is able to till one and a half acres of sell in an hour, two acres a day being considered a fair average under the old methods. The muchine accomplishes the same amount of work as, it would require fourteen horses to do.

findianapolis, Ind., April 26,--Al-though the Democratic State convention does not meet, until tomorrow evening, the leaders, as well as most of the 1,747 delogates, are here today. About the corridors of the Denison hotel, where the most of the leaders have established headquar. ters, political discussion buzzed at a lively rate. The proposal to inderse a candidate for Bulted States sens-tor, the plans of the Taggart and suti-Taggart forces, the platform to be adopted by the convention, especially with reference to the temperance which is imitation astrakan, were also ferences in the hotel lobbies and other places where the robbies. other places where the politicians congregated. The nomination of the state-ticket, which is estensibly the chief work of the convention, probable, sensible, sensible bly received less attention than any will endeavor to make "Harmony and Enthusiasm" the keynote of the convention. They realize that a hard battle is in prospect this fall, with the chances of Democratic success brighter than for many years pro-viding the party presents a solid front. Indiana has a normal republican majority of about 25,000, Last fall, however, the democrats succeeded in electing Thomas R. Marshall SENATOR BEVERIDGE governor by about 16,000, and they also elected eleven out of the thirteen congressmen, two or three other state officers and a majority of the legislators. From this they are taking hope for the coming fray. According to the program mutual concessions are to be made by the opposing factions.

Whether Governor Marshall's proposal to indorse a candidate for sen-ator shall be acled upon is to be left ntirely in the hunds of the convention itself. As temporary chairman of the convention Governor Marshall will deliver the opening address. He will probably take occasion to explain his view in regard to the senstorial indersement but without specifically urging the 'convention,' to adopt his suggestion. He will point out that the democrats, since 1894; have been advocating the election of United States senators by nopular vote, and that .. since, under, the Constitution. this can not be done; the nearest approach to It is to have the state couvention name a man to whom the democratic forces whall raily. He polleves further that such an action on the part of the convention would place the democratic forces on an equality with the republicans, whose only candidate in the field will be, as far as can be discerned, Scustor

Bevarlago. Thomas Tuggart, whose influence is still paramount in the controlling faction of the democratic party in Indiana, has taken no palus to concent the fact that he is opposed to the Governor's suggestion to inderse roe Park auditorium, within sight of senttorial candidate. The reasons Porter. He has since resided in this county. Mr. Drummond was married engagements of the civil war, the february 7, 1870 to Miss Julia M. Love, Two children, both of whom of Confederate Volcana, and Confederate Volcana, a crats capture the next legislature. Mr. Taggart takes the stand that the governor's plan would have the disadvantage of removing all the can didates for United States senator ex cept one from the race and that the friends might not, therefore, be so netive in the campaign.

Next to the senstorial question the party platform is the chief subject of discussion today. A tariff for revenue only has for years been the demoeratic shibboleth in Indiana. Mr. Hendricks and Mr., Turple used it with emphasis in their day and other lenders have never missed the opporfunity to denounce protection in all its forms. It is not difficult, there-fore, to predict that the deliverance tee; response by Gen. Clement A. Evens, commander-in-chief.

This afternoon the veterans reassembled to listen to a program of music and the delivery of the annual transfer in the convention on the tariff question will be in keeping with the parameter to will be in keeping with the parameter to make the only issue in Indiana this year, and it may not be the parameter one, There is still a temperance question. The republicans did not mention it in their pletform, but the democrats other administration measures in acted to morrow, including the railroad, anti-injunction and conservation bills have been put the next meeting place and the election of an outright indersement of city the next meeting place and the election of an outright indersement of city and township the house. It is necessarily a series of the next meeting place and the election of an outright indersement of city and township the latter and the election of the next meeting place and the election of an outright indersement of city and township the latter and the election of the next meeting place and the election of the next meetin and township local option, while others believe in high license and close regulation for the salcons,

DRUG TALK WORTH READING

The high price of crude rubber of the last years has brought out adulter-ations of rubber goods. White rubber hags and syringes are leaded with white lead, the red rubber goods are artificially colored with mercury uxide, a strong poison. Het water leit in these bags becomes impregnated with moreury, then used as a douche may cause serious inflammation.

The cheap rubber goods are sold mostly outside of drug stores to merchants that do not understand the chemical nature of the goods they sell, therefore do great harm to the public through a lack of knowledge.

MAKING LOVE IN PORTUGAL

Chief Point of Difficulty is Getting the Pair One.

The most important event in the life of a Portuguese woman is marringo. Next in importance are the early days of courtship, for a Portuguese courtship is the essence of romance, and the ways of the Portugueno lover are singularly picturesque. Here is a little drama in which Cupid is stage director. If a young Portuguese sees in the street a pretty girl with whom he would like to become acquainted, he follows her. Chaperons are not impossible obstructions.. He follows her right up to her very door and notes the address. Next day he comes again, and if the young lady approves of him-for the certainly saw him the day before—she is on the lookaut.

Sometimes hard fute in the guise of an angry parent prevents her, and then the gallant youth is kept wait-Booner or later she loans over the balcony and smiles at him. The happy youth ties a note to a cord which the fair lady drops from the balcony. The next day the young man comes again. This time he rings at the door. If the inquiries which the young lady's olders have made prove satisfactory, the swain is admitted to make the acquaintance of the young lady, After that, courtship in Portugal is about the same as it is in Kankakee or Kalamazoo.-Leslie's Weekly.

Dogs of Other Times.

Swiss naturalists have recently presented to the Helvetian society of Natural Science the results of their studies of the remains of dogs found among the ancient lake dwellings of Switzerland, the earliest of which date from the age of stone. It has been found that three different races of dogs existed there at that time, one of which resembled the Siberian sledge dog of to-day. Later, when the age of bronze dawned upon the Alps, two new species appeared, one being a shepherd dog and the other a hunting dog. All of these dogs were of northern origin, the canine types of the Mediterranean lands not having crossed the Alps.

Turkey Real American, Bird.

The turkey, rather than the engle, is the real American bird. Eagles are found all over the world, but the turkey is a foreigner overywhere else except in America, his native home. The wild turkey of America is the proworld. In North America, Mexico and Honduran the turkey was found in great numbers by the white men, but in South America the bird is unknown. Scientists are agreed that the turkey resides outside of his continent only as an immigrant, and that his native home must be sought semewhere north of the Isthmus of Panuma.

Romance in Oriental Rugs

More than 3,000 years ago, as tiles and marbles 'from' Nineveh , show, splendld fabrics were produced for the adornment of the palaces of the kings of Assyria, and every oriental genitor of all the turkeys in the realizes how through the long, days of the long centuries these simple people have been weaving in with the colors of the jewel and the rainbow the sunshine and shadow of their own lives. How much of romance and happiness, how much of tears and sighing, have gone to the tying of the myrlad knots or followed the flying shuttle on its journeys to and froit.

AFFAIRS POLITICAL. Apparently the inactivity of the past winter has been shaken off by the anpiring politicians about the state and from now on the political nows will be illed with the announcement of thin candidato or that for the differ ont state offices. With five candidates for the republican nomination for governor in the field, Fairchild, McClovorn, Lowis, Strange and Barker, one for lioutenant, governor, Marris, and Frear again socking the office of secretary of state, 'political matters look up. In connection with Frear's nanouncement comes the whispered tale that he is to have opposition and that Colonel Manson, former state sonator and at present Governor Duvidson's private socretary, had his eye on the office. Munson would make a good man for the place and would find many thousands of supporters in the state that he knows nothing of, until he decides to announce his candidacy. The last candidate to appear is M. J. Cleary of Blanchardville, who would Cleary is a young man who during his two terms in the state legislature as representative for Lafayette county, friends all over the state who would supposed to have fully digested. be glad to aid him in his fight. His opponent will with all probability be Ekern, the La Follette man who was defeated for re-election in Trempeleau county-ut the last general election. Country Visitor to City 8aw at Once Disadvantages of Subway Entrances.

A gental Joshua, who runs a chicken plantation and cornetalk refinery down in the Salem county section of Jersey, came to this city the other day to buy a pair of winter boots and a box of axle grease, says the Philadelphia Telegraph. After rambling around in the ferry zone for a while he bravely cut loose and started up Market

He had not proceeded far when he saw an employe of the Philadelphia Electric Company lift the lid of a manhale and crawl down into the conduit chamber. Evidently the eight filled Joshua with much thought, for he gazed carnestly toward the manhole for a minute or two and then went over to a cop who was holding fast to a sunny spot on the corner.

"Excuse me, contable," said Joshus, addressing the police person, "but hain't they got a railroad down in the ground under this street?"

"They certainly have," indulgently answered the officer. "It is the sub-

Remarkable Church in German Town Around Whigh There Linger Superstitious Tales.

In the quaint old German town of Oberstein an ancient church stands, built in the great rock rising from the river. The front of the building is of stone, but the church itself is hollowed out of the rock and penetrates far into its heart. Tradition says that in the fourteenth century the count of Oberstein, one of the old robber barons, fell deeply in love with a beautiful young lady, the daughter of a neighboring kuight. His brother also sought the fair maiden's hand and the two suffers had a violent quarrel. The upshot was that the count flung his hapless brother from the top of his castle wall, high up the precipitous cliff. Repenting of his awful deed, the count vowed that he would build a church where his brother's body first touched the ground. He did so, excavating the church in the rock, and tradition goes on to say a infraculous spring of clear water sprang from the crag as a token that Heaven was appeared. This curious church is now the only Protestant place of worship in the town.--Wide World Magazine.

Washington, April 26 .- Andrew Cartiegle, who was one of the guests of honor and chief speakers at the dodlcation of the new building of the international Bureau of the American republics this afternoon, delivered the following address:

Iollowing addross:

Mr. Chairman, President, Diplomats, Ladies and Gentlement As one of the remaining members of the first International Conference of the American Republics, whose interest in the cause has increased with the years, no duty could be assigned me more pleasing than that I am now called upon to perform by the favor of the governing board of the International Bureau of the American Republics—that of participating in the dedication of this beautiful structure to its noclide mission of promoting the reign of moral and material, over the republics of this vast continent, Nor would we exclude from friendly co-operation our growing neighbor of the north, who enjoys like ourselves, government of, and for, and by the people, should she in the course of time decide with the cordial approval of her illustrious parentland, to she the brotherhood, thus extending it over the brotherhood, thus extending it over the sentire continent, an area nearly Upon such an occasion as this our thoughts naturally revert to the past services of Secretary Blaine, who stands forth pre-smilinent, presiding as he did nover the first conference of the recubilca held in Washington, which conference he had called into being. We rejoice that upon these walls a permanent tribute to his memory is soon to appear. Ills successor, Senator Root (then secretary of state, and to whom we chiefly owe this beautiful structure), was an inconcerving state, and to whom we chiefly owe this beautiful structure), was an inconcerving state, and was the ploneer smong high officials in visiting our southarn brethren in their own countries. Much has he done for the cause, and in due time a similar tribute to him will no doubt be exceted. His successor, our chairman, Mr. Kine, a strong how the eight leading maval powers, be converted into an arbitral court composed of the most eminent justize of the respective countries, authorized to decide any international disputes brought before it. Should this pregnant suggestion be approved, of which there is strong hope, the world will have at less its greater need supplied, and the young sentenary of state's everlasting moniment in thus provided by one stroke of his per.

Tributes to Dead and Living.

Tributes to Dead and Living.

My neighbor in the first conference was senor Don Manuel Quintann of Argentina, afterward elevated to the presidency of his country. He also, like Mr. Bistins, has passed away. We have to mourn also the untimely death of our chairman of the Pan-American committee. William I. Buchanan, whose devotion to the work and the ability displayed had given him high place among those who rank as internationalists, and whose fame is secure not only in his own country, but in all the republics. It was feared Mr. Buchanan's loss would be irremediable, but a great mobis cause such as that of Pan-Americanism, in which we are engaged, inspires and develops unusual talents and earnest soils whose hearts are in the work. I vesture to speak of Director Diarrett in this connection, whose ability to meet all energencies has been truly curptising. Three or four times what we to meet all emergencies has been truly surprising. Three or four times what we in know, to shalle his devotion to his mission. Heart and brain are in the cause. His reward lies in beholding its shall we look upon his like again. Would that all these leaders who have passed beyond were cognizant of the wonderful progress the Pan-American idea has made, and is making in recent times. It occurs to me that this addice may be destined to become the Pantheon of departed heroes in the cause of continual peace and brotherhood.

The last of our grievous losses still lingers in our hearts, that of the able, devoted, beloved l'an-American, Senor Nabico, Brazil's notable ambassador. When shall we look upon his like again?

In the to congratulate the 20 Latin ma-

I wish to congratulate the 20 Latin rations south of us upon their educational and intellectual progress, their was resources and growing prominence and international influence. Their expanding trade and commerce are remarkable. The Tatacastional Birmon of American Headers ternational influence. Their expanding trade and commerce are remarkable. The International Bureau of American Republics is performing a great work in keeping the peoples of the world advised of these matters. I confess that the figures surprise me. These To republica have already To millions of people and their foreign trade, which has doubled in the last ten years, amounts to two billions (not millions but billions) of delears. Trade between our own country and these has also doubled in that time and teaches 600 millions of deliars. If the bureau continues keeping the world advised of the progress of Pah-American commerce and Pan-American railways, and continues to report such amazing progress and resources, it may soon be questioned whicher this twentieth century is after all to be Canada's contury. It may be captured, not by the mattern, but by the southern part of our continent, My recent visit to the west and, the Pacilio convinced me that the center nation, winner of the nineteenth century, is still in the race and is not to be regarded as a negligible quantity in the struggle for record progress in the twentieth. In any case, we of the mindie portion will heartily congratulate our advancing sister nations, north or south.

Greatest Mission of the Building.

Greatest Mission of the Building.

Mr. Chairmant l'ully am I persuaded that the rulers and statesmen of the earth, all of whom are loday constantly carth, all of whom are loday constantly proclaiming their carnest desire for peace, are sincare in their protestations. Why then is this universally desired peace not promptly secured? Equally an I persuaded that the true root of the falture lies in the fact that these rulers and statesmen know not each other well. They are atrangers and therefore naturally and mutually suspicious. When a difference sriess they meet as strangers, knowing not the sincerity, the truthfulness, the keep sense of heart, and the sarriest desire for peace of their fellow statesmen. The French have a proverb—we only late those we do not know; the reverse is also saif evidently trus—we only love those we do know.

Cas of the chief missions of this palace should be, as their natural home, to draw together the diplomats and representative men of all our republics and eachle them to know each other and learn of the stering virtues of their colleagues, and especially their earnest desire for the prosecutive their earnest desire for the palace their earnest desired to the palace the palace their earnest desired to the palace their earnest desired to the palace their earnest desired to the palace the palace their earnest desired to the palace the palace the palace their perity of all their *sighbors had lifely anklous hope that peace shall ever reign between them. Thus, these statesmen will become lifelong friends to whom may safety be entrusted the settlement of any international difference that may arise. Above sil, we may expect that between sitting as judge upon his own cause, were the other to propose leaving the difference to a mutual friend. This then, is one of the greatest missions of this international intelling ground in which we are assembled. Nor will its mission be fulfilled until every republic, and I fondly hope. Canada, also included, shall have agreed to lay aside the sword.

The most momentous declaration—ever made upon this subject by the chief of a nation, is that of our president recently in New York. He proclaimed that all international disputes should be settled by arbitration: no exceptions; a court of honor should decide whether any dispute involved that phantom of nations called honor; the independence and existing territorial limits of nations would of course be sacred and recognized as beyond disputes. He has given us the true solution of the problem of peace against war, and placed our republic in the van, and he is to rank in history with the greatest benefactors of his race.

placed our republic in the van, and he is to rank in history with the greatust benefactors of his race.

The crime of war is inherent—it gives victory not to the nation that is right, but to that which is strong.

As I speak there comes to me a new poem, "The New Age." I quote two verses:

And flests are intention.

And flests are unders thinks.

When the dove shall warm her bosom

Beneath the engle's wings.

When memory of battles

And creeds have one banner.
And creeds have found one fold.
Then hair's has note of discord.
In all God's worlds shall cease
In the conquest which is service.
In the victory which is service. n the conquest which is service. In the victory which is peace.

At last is strange and old,

The great movements of the people of the earth looking to closer association and truer kinship, are often alow of realization. Such movements spring from within. They are not arbitrarily imposed by outward forces. Their himself imposed by outward forces. Their himself imposed by outward forces, the times of heighboring communities that the development and prosperity of each is in harmony with the advancement of the rest, and that between peoples, of the rest, and that per under the same locals, living under the same political conditions and sharing in a common environment, there is a certain sentiment of unity, which moves them to closer intimacy. The growth and fruition of that sentiment is the work of time, of centuries perhaps. Rarely has the seed been sown and the tree matured within the life-time of a single generation.

Growth of Pan-Americanism.

the first international conference of American republics, held in this capital 20 years ago. We have watched its growth year by year with ardent solidiuds. From the first the people of the United States, through their government and congress, have lent hearty and effective aid to the great enterprise. The representatives of all the republics of the west have met, in cordial harmony, funder the international Pan-American banner, as the honored guests of the American Union; and this nation, in turn, never unmindful of the sacred duties of a host, has taken part as a simple co-laborer on the tasks of the great body-politic, which has been created by the concurrent efforts of all. It is a legical consequence of that dust relationship that the home of the international bursau, in which we are today assembled, is the sift in a large part, of a citizen of the United States, to sill the peoples of the United States, to common with our Pan-American bratiren, accept that notice sift, firm in the conviction that it will be a worthy instrument toward the altainment of the high aims of the international bureau, and, with devout hearts, we supplicate the Giver of All Good that the efforts of our association may be, thrice blessed and through its influence the nations of Pan-America may, year by year, he brought into closer accord and more benevolent community of interests.

Owing to the political and economical scope generally attributed to Pan-Americanism, its fundamental lifes has been expastly discussed; some have consured it others have praised it, and the rest have considered it as an impossible litters.

Hut, when we mean by Pan-American-ism that community of sentiment, of ideas and aspirations among the American re-publics tending to foster cordiality in their publics tending to foster cordinity in their friendly relations, tending to strengthen the ties of interests for mutual advantage, thus increasing the respect for the rights of others; when these aspirations, in materializing, in no wise impair the essential right of self preservation, liberty, independence and equality before the law of the states—thien, indeed, we should joyfully celebrate the completion of the home devoted to such principles.

MEAT VS. NUTS.

Any nut, except the chestnut, furnishes a better supply of albumen than does flesh meat. The pecan is the ideal nut, the elementa being in it so well balanced that it might be used as an exclusive monodict; the walnut also contains an amnie suoply of albumen with fat and all the mineral elements of food. The peanut contains about thirty per cent. of albumen, of a character so readily assimilated that caution, is necessary against eating them too freely, two or three fiatfulls of unshalled Virginia nuts being sufficient for the daily ration of albumen for the average adult, although a healthy youth will need more, an aged person less. The Italian walnut is preferable to the English or American for nuts is entire wheat broad, which should not be frosh. This gives bulk to balance the richness of the nut. But so far #1 nutritient balance is concerned, fruits are preferable for combination with nuts, because they contain little albumen and ifat and much carbohydrate, or heat, and energy food.

In every walk in life discrimination between the true and the false wins and onjoys success. In questions of form, of style and of values, whether financial, commercial or medicinal, the judgement of the men and women who select and appreciate and utilize the true and genuine product, proves most profitable and most satisfactory to themselves and to all who follow them. Therefore, in connection with so important a subject as the physical well-being of the people, the most eminentphysicians insist on full information as to the wholesomenature and truly beneficial, character of the component parts of the remedies used and prescribed by them, and the wise manufacturer not only supplies them with the knowledge desired, but also combines for them in proper proportions the very substances most approved by them. and omits every objectionable substance. The world-wide acceptance of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna by physicians and the well-informed of the world, as the best of family laxatives, is due to the universal satisfaction which it has given for more than a quarter of a century and also to the fact that it is a remedy of known quality and known component parts and to the further fact that the California Fig Syrup Co. presents it to the world simply as the ideal strengthening personal laxative to cleanse and sweeten the system gently, yet effectually, and to dispel colds and headaches and to assist in overcoming constipation. To get its beneficial effects - always buy the original, and genuine, for sale by all leading druggists. I do not profess that I read all that was in her face as she stepped bacis toward the satin curtains and swept me the most graceful courtesy I had ever seen in all my life, I felt like reaching out a hand to restrain her.

Then I recalled my mission; and I remembered what Mr. Calhoun and Dr. Ward had said. I was not a man; I was a government agent. Sho was not a woman; she was my opponent. Yet, but then-

Slowly I turned to the opposite side of this long central room. There were curtains hero also. I drew them, but as i'did so i'glanced back. Again, as on that earlier night, I saw her face framed in the amber folds-a face laughing, mocking. With an exclamation of discontent, I threw down my heavy piatol on the floor, cast my coat across the foot of the bed to prevent the delicate covering from the ing solled by my boots, and so rested without further disrobing.

In the opposite apartment I could hear her moving about, humming to herself some air as unconcernedly as though no such being as myself existed in the world. WINDMILLS

The BURTON mill is made to give satisfaction. Each part is constructed perfectly and made to meet all condiions. The BURTON mill is adjustable to wells of different depths, or to amount of power required, that is, not to run too fast on a shallow too slow on a deep one. This is accomplished by the peculiar construction of the governing arm and its vano is attached and which governs the mill. This important improve-ment enables the BURTON to meet and overcome the many diverse circumstances under which winduills in-
